THURIS

BOTANICAL FRAGRANCE HOUSE

BRAND IDENTITY GUIDELINES / VERSION 1.0

Approved visual direction: architectural minimalism

Master vector artwork pending production redraft and optical refinement.

01 / BRAND SYSTEM

Brand foundation

A quiet, provenance-led fragrance house built around rare aromatic materials, ritual and place.

BRAND NAME

THURIS

Name root: Latin thūs, thūris - incense / frankincense. The name anchors the house in aromatic material, ritual and historical fragrance culture without making the brand feel like a generic wellness label.

BRAND DESCRIPTOR

BOTANICAL FRAGRANCE HOUSE

POSITIONING

THURIS presents rare aromatic materials as limited, provenance-led objects of ritual. The brand should feel closer to a private fragrance house than to an aromatherapy or wellness retailer.

DESIRED PERCEPTION

- Rare, precise, tactile and cultivated.
- Architectural rather than decorative.
- Quiet confidence rather than conspicuous luxury.
- Globally fluent, with strong relevance to UAE fragrance culture.
- Material-led: origin, extraction, batch, vessel and ritual matter.

NOT THIS

- Not spa, wellness, apothecary or “natural remedies” branding.
- Not faux-Arabic ornament, generic desert imagery or heritage cosplay.
- Not botanical maximalism, saturated green or rustic craft packaging.
- Not trend-led “clean beauty” language.

02 / BRAND SYSTEM

Logo system

The wordmark carries the house. The monogram operates as a seal, cap mark and compact digital identifier.

PRIMARY WORDMARK

Use the THURIS wordmark as the default brand signature on the website, packaging fronts, editorial pages and formal communications.

Secondary lockup: THURIS + BOTANICAL FRAGRANCE HOUSE. Use where the category needs clarification. Monogram: use on bottle caps, seals, favicon, social avatar and restricted spaces.

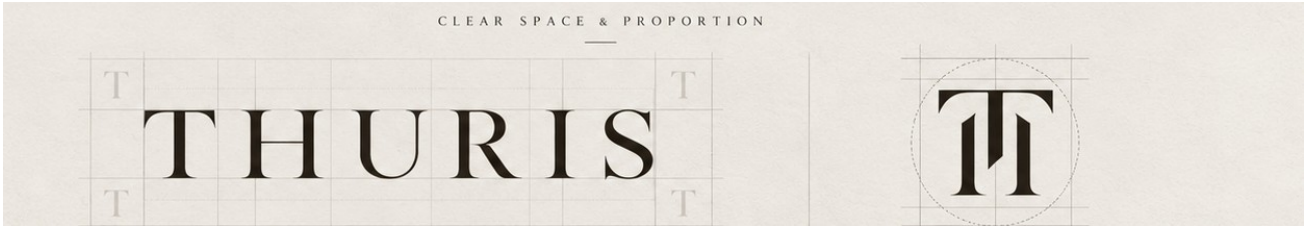

PRODUCTION STATUS

The approved reference board is the visual authority for proportion and character. Do not use the AI-generated raster artwork as a final print master. The master wordmark and monogram must be redrawn as production vectors, optically kerned, tested at small sizes and approved before packaging manufacture.

03 / BRAND SYSTEM

Clear space & minimum size

The identity depends on controlled space. Crowding destroys the intended authority.

CLEAR-SPACE RULE

Maintain clear space equal to one capital-T height on all sides of the primary and secondary wordmarks. For the monogram, use one quarter of the mark width as the minimum clear zone.

Asset	Digital minimum	Print minimum
Primary wordmark	160 px wide	32 mm wide
Secondary lockup	220 px wide	45 mm wide
Monogram	32 px	8 mm

NEVER

Stretch, condense, skew or rotate the logo.

Re-typeset THURIS from a font instead of using master artwork.

Add shadows, outlines, bevels, glows or gradients.

Place the mark over visually noisy botanical photography.

Change the relationship between the descriptor and wordmark.

Place the monogram inside an arbitrary shape or badge.

04 / BRAND SYSTEM

Colour system

Warm mineral neutrals form the house. Brass is an accent, not a background. Smoked violet belongs to the product world.

Role	Name	Swatch	HEX	Use
BG PRIMARY	Bone		#F4F0E8	Primary editorial and digital background
BG SECONDARY	Parchment		#E7DED2	Secondary panels, packaging stock
SURFACE	Ivory		#FBF8F2	Cards, paper, clean product surfaces
SURFACE INVERSE	Obsidian		#1A1714	Dark sections, premium inverse applications
TEXT PRIMARY	Charcoal		#241F1B	Primary copy and wordmark
TEXT MUTED	Stone		#736A61	Secondary copy and metadata
ACCENT	Antique Brass		#9A7748	Lines, foil cue, restrained emphasis
ACCENT SECONDARY	Smoked Violet		#291723	Bottle/product world only
BORDER	Warm Hairline		#CFC5B8	Rules and separators

MATERIAL COLOUR

Brushed champagne brass is the preferred physical metal language for caps, foil and hardware. Final foil / Pantone / anodised-metal specifications are not yet locked and must be approved from physical drawdowns before production.

USAGE RATIO

Aim for roughly 70% warm neutrals, 20% charcoal/obsidian and 10% brass or smoked-violet accents. Avoid large flat fields of metallic gold.

05 / BRAND SYSTEM

Typography

High-contrast serif for ceremony. Rational sans-serif for clarity. The logo remains separate artwork.

PRIMARY DISPLAY

Bodoni Moda

Use for large editorial headlines, product chapter titles and campaign statements. Recommended weights: Regular 400 and Medium 500. Google Fonts / SIL Open Font License. Do not use as a substitute for the THURIS wordmark.

BODY & INTERFACE

Inter

Use for body copy, navigation, product details, commerce UI and legal text. Recommended weights: 400, 500 and 600. Keep interface typography quiet and exact.

TYPESETTING RULES

- Display headlines: sentence case or restrained title case; avoid bold Didone weights.
- Eyebrows / labels: uppercase Inter 500 with generous tracking (0.18-0.28em).
- Body copy: 16-18 px digital, 1.45-1.65 line height.
- Navigation / buttons: 11-13 px, uppercase or small-title case with tracked spacing.
- Never use condensed display fonts, handwritten scripts or rounded “wellness” typefaces.

06 / BRAND SYSTEM

Layout & geometry

Space is an active brand element. Composition should feel measured, not empty.

System	Rule	Intent
Density	Airy	Luxury through pace and restraint
Grid	12-column desktop / 4-column mobile	Architectural alignment
Max content width	1320 px	Editorial scale without over-stretching
Section spacing	120-160 px desktop; 56-72 px mobile	Slow reading rhythm
Corner radius	0-2 px	Avoid soft lifestyle-card aesthetics
Borders	1 px warm hairline	Structure without visual weight
Buttons	48-52 px height; mostly square	Deliberate and tactile

MOTION

Intensity: subtle. Character: slow, weighted reveals. Use restrained opacity and vertical movement, typically 450-700 ms. Avoid spring physics, bounce, continuous parallax, autoplay carousel motion and attention-seeking hover effects.

DIGITAL BEHAVIOUR

Primary CTA should feel decisive: dark solid or hairline-outlined depending on context. Accent brass is reserved for dividers, selected states and micro-details rather than full button fills.

07 / BRAND SYSTEM

Photography & image direction

A material world of stone, glass, resin, blossom and directional light.

TREATMENT

Warm, directional natural light with deliberate hard-edged shadow.

Limestone, plaster, travertine, uncoated paper, brushed brass and smoked/violet glass.

Macro details of resin, peel, blossom, distillation material and packaging craft.

Editorial negative space; products may sit slightly off-axis rather than always centred.

Landscape imagery should communicate provenance and atmosphere, not tourism.

DON'T

No spa stones, towels, yoga poses, diffusers, generic palms or wellness-influencer imagery.

No saturated “natural green” colour grade.

No faux-Middle-Eastern ornament, domes, calligraphic motifs or cliché desert luxury.

No water splashes, floating ingredients or cosmetic-ad CGI tropes unless materially justified.

No unverified origin imagery presented as the actual source landscape.

08 / BRAND SYSTEM

Voice & verbal identity

Measured, sensory and exact. The brand speaks with the confidence of a collector, not a salesperson.

VOICE PRINCIPLES

Principle	Application
Measured	Short, controlled sentences. No exclamation marks or hyperbole.
Sensory	Describe material, texture, aroma and atmosphere without pseudo-science.
Precise	State origin, batch, extraction and format when verified.
Provenance-led	Place and process matter more than generic “natural” language.
Quietly authoritative	Do not repeatedly call the product luxurious, premium or exclusive; demonstrate it.

WORDS WE USE

extract · essence · batch · origin · harvest · distillation · resin · blossom · provenance · ritual · edition · composition · material · trace · release

WORDS WE AVOID

detox · cure · heal · therapeutic · miracle · wellness hack · ancient secret · exotic · magical · chemical-free · “100% pure” unless verified by documentation

COPY EXAMPLES

House line: “Rare aromatic materials. Traces of origin.”

Product hierarchy: “FRANKINCENSE / INDIA / BATCH 001 / 10 ml.”

Commerce CTA: “Reserve the Founding Edition.”

09 / BRAND SYSTEM

Packaging architecture

The bottle is the object. Packaging should frame it, not compete with it.

VESSEL DIRECTION

10 ml heavy-bottom square or rectangular glass.

Ultra-dark smoked violet / obsidian appearance; translucency only where material performance allows.

Concealed glass pipette / press-dropper architecture; no exposed rubber teat.

Oversized brushed champagne-metal outer cap.

Monogram centred on cap via deboss, laser mark or restrained foil/metal treatment.

Direct print / foil typography; no wraparound decorative label if it compromises the object.

FRONT-FACE HIERARCHY

THURIS → product name → verified origin → batch number → 10 ml. Keep claims off the front face unless legally required.

OUTER CARTON

Warm bone or parchment uncoated stock with charcoal typography and restrained brass detail. Deboss / blind emboss is preferred over glossy lamination. The product vessel may carry the darker smoked-violet world inside this lighter architectural shell.

PRODUCTION NOTE

Any claims regarding purity, organic status, origin, grade, therapeutic effect or certification must be supported by current supplier documentation and applicable regulatory review before appearing on pack.

10 / BRAND SYSTEM

Digital & commerce application

Editorial first impression, frictionless transaction, factual scarcity.

HOMEPAGE PRINCIPLES

- Lead with the object and the house; avoid a conventional e-commerce grid above the fold.
- Primary CTA: Reserve the Founding Edition / Reserve [product], depending on launch architecture.
- State real pre-order terms, real ship window and real unit cap close to the CTA.
- Use provenance, material and batch detail as conversion proof.
- Keep checkout language direct; do not use artificial urgency or countdown timers unless factually tied to a real deadline.

INTERFACE STYLE

Warm neutral canvas, large typographic scale, charcoal text, sparse brass hairlines and dark cinematic product imagery. Product sections may invert to obsidian or smoked-violet surfaces for contrast.

ACCESSIBILITY

Maintain readable contrast, keyboard focus, semantic headings and motion-reduction support. Luxury is not a reason to use low-contrast body text or undersized typography.

11 / BRAND SYSTEM

Brand architecture

Keep THURIS as the house. Product names remain material-led and factual.

MASTERBRAND

THURIS

Descriptor: BOTANICAL FRAGRANCE HOUSE

LAUNCH EDITION

THE FOUNDING EDITION

PRODUCT NAMING

THURIS FRANKINCENSE

THURIS NEROLI

THURIS ROSE GERANIUM

Use edition names to structure releases; do not invent romantic product names unless a later fragrance-composition strategy requires them. Material and provenance are the current differentiators.

FUTURE EXTENSIONS

The house architecture should be able to expand into extrait, incense, objects or private editions without changing the masterbrand. Any extension naming should retain the same restrained material vocabulary.

12 / BRAND SYSTEM

Governance & production checklist

A CI only works if the source artwork, claims and applications are controlled.

LOCKED NOW

- Brand name: THURIS.
- Primary visual direction: architectural minimalism.
- Logo character: high-contrast serif wordmark + architectural TT monogram.
- Descriptor: BOTANICAL FRAGRANCE HOUSE.
- Core palette: warm mineral neutrals, charcoal/obsidian, restrained brass; smoked violet in product applications.
- Brand voice: measured, sensory, precise and provenance-led.

STILL TO FINALISE BEFORE PRODUCTION

- Production vector redraw of wordmark and monogram.
- Optical kerning and 16/32 px favicon simplification.
- Final print colour, foil, anodised-metal and paper-stock drawdowns.
- Trademark / domain clearance sufficient for launch markets.
- Final bottle supplier, glass colour/coating validation and closure compatibility.
- Verified product claims and required regulatory copy.

MASTER-ARTWORK RULE

Once final vectors are approved, every supplier, developer and designer must use the controlled master files. No supplier recreation, font substitution or manual tracing is permitted.
